Prophecy, Challenge & Blessing

Visions of 2012 & the Shift

By Jack Allis

This is an age of monumental transformation, prophesied by every ancient indigenous culture on Earth, in which our civilized world is dying because it is out of balance. This doesn't mean the world is going to end. It is going to be transformed. In his latest book, Jack Allis cuts through all the nonsense with a message that is a true reflection of the indigenous prophecies. These transformative times are an incredibly blessed opportunity to recreate our world, and ourselves. To accomplish this we must reconnect with our magical heritage as spiritual beings, and with our sacred duty to serve the creation. A formidable challenge? Yes indeed, but with eloquence and inspiration, Jack points the way to what we must do. It's up to us. The time is now.
